

My Best Friend is a Superhero?!

(A kid finally tells their best friend the big secret... and it does NOT go as expected!)

Characters:

- Max – A normal kid (or so their best friend thinks).
- Jordan – Max's best friend, who reacts in the best way possible.

Setting: Max and Jordan's backyard.

Max: Okay, Jordan. I need to tell you something huge. But you have to promise not to scream.

Jordan: (Excited) Is it that you finally learned how to whistle? Because I've been waiting for—

Max: No! It's way bigger! I... (Takes a deep breath) I have superpowers.

Jordan: (Pause. Then BURSTS out laughing.) Ohhhh, good one, Max. Super funny.

Max: I'M SERIOUS. I have real powers! Watch!

(Max dramatically raises their hands. A sudden gust of wind blows past them. Jordan's hat flies off.)

Jordan: (Pause) Okay. That was... lucky timing. Do it again.

Max: Fine. (Closes eyes, concentrates. Their shoelaces tie themselves.)

Jordan: (Mouth drops open) WHAT?! YOU'RE TELLING THE TRUTH?!

Max: (Nods) I've been hiding it forever, but I couldn't keep it a secret from my best friend.

Jordan: (Excited) Oh. My. Gosh. THIS. IS. AWESOME! Okay, okay—first question: Can you fly?

Max: Not yet.

Jordan: Laser eyes?

Max: Nope.

Jordan: Do you at least have super speed?!

Max: Only when I really, really have to go to the bathroom.

Jordan: (Laughs) BEST. DAY. EVER. So, uh... can I be your sidekick?

Max: We'll see. I mean, you did just laugh at me.

Jordan: (Grinning) Hey, even superheroes need to be humbled.

(They laugh as the scene ends.)